RICHMOND, CALIFORNIA, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 12, 1915

NO. 47

Local Happenings Condensed; Personal and General Comment

Richmond still has too many "living statues."

Everybody who had a new rain-coat "showed" Monday.

Dr. C. L. Abbot will erect a fine brick building on his Macdonald avenue property near 9th street, if present plans are carried out.

Dr. W. E. Cunningham's large practice is convincing evidence that he is one of the most successful physicians in the bay district.

"Billy" Luce has given Richmond some valuable advertising in promoting the national game. A good baseball team is an asset worth while to any city.

Walter Gianella, proprietor of the Golden Gate hotel, Pt. Richmond, has a fine patronage. This can be attributed to the genial qualities of the landlord.

Mrs. Emanuel Sterns, who was seriously ill, necessitating her removal to the Craven hospital, is reported to be convalescent. Mrs. Sterns is the wife of the well known bazaar man at 214 Macdonald ave.

Mrs. Lena Loomis, who died in the German hospital, San Francisco, Nov. 2, was the wife of George E. Loomis, Pt. Richmond capitalist. Mrs. Loomis had lived in Richmond 12 years and had a wide acquaintance.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Shadrow will spend the holidays in New York and Brooklyn. Mr. Shadrow is designer for a San Francisco suit house. Mr. Shadrow was formerly Miss Lorraine Brown, daughter of Mrs. W. B. Brown of this city.

Father P. M. Griffin performed the wedding ceremony, Wednesday evening, that made John King and Miss Clara Pizzotti husband and wife. King is an employee of the Western Pipe and Steel Works. Mrs. Pizzotti was formerly an employee of Burg Real Estate Co.

W. H. Sanford, the real estate broker, is established in Martinez.

Mrs. Edith Huston was the guest of Mrs. P. C. Staley of Hayward Sunday.

Memorial mass was held this morning, at 8 o'clock, at St. Mark's Church, Father Griffin officiating.

Councilman H. L. Penry has started work on the one-story brick building of Charles Bacon at Martinez.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Kunkel returned from a year's stay in Franklin, Penn., and are now visiting Robert Wood, stepfather of Mrs. Kunkel, on Idaho avenue at the Point.

San Francisco Man Takes Over Hotel

August G. M. Bruns made application for a retail liquor license, same being transferred from Hyatt & Hyatt of the Terminal Hotel at 200 Macdonald avenue. Mr. Bruns contemplates improvements that will attractively improve the appearance of this property. He is financially interested in much of Richmond's business property and has great faith in the city's future growth.

Stags Initiate Nine.

At their Wednesday meeting a class of 9 was initiated into the mysteries of Stagdom. Another class of 25 is being prepared for the next meeting. This order grows weekly and is becoming a popular society for young men.

Noted Educator of the South Tells of Institute

Booker T. Washington writes The Terminal from Tuskegee Institute, Alabama, that 1537 colored young men and women are enrolled. Forty trades and industries are taught. Agriculture in all its branches is taught. The farm consists of 1000 acres, and 195 skilled teachers are employed in instructing and training students.

Booker T. Washington is at the head of the institute as principal, and a number of the most prominent men's names of the country appear in the long list of trustees.

The Terminal acknowledges receipt of Mr. Washington's personal letter, and wishes the institute every success under his able direction and management.

Albany Briefs

The naval base project for Richmond and Albany, plans for which have been approved by Secretary of the Navy Daniels and the naval board at Washington, is being agitated by the Albany industrial commission, an organization always alive to improvements. It is said Trustee Daniels of Albany claims to be a relative of the Secretary of the Navy, and that he may have great influence in pushing the project through. Rumor has it that President Daniels is thinking seriously of making a special trip to Washington and interviewing his namesake.

The big stunt in Albany tonight (Friday) is the dedication of the new firehouse and the big feed and dance at the auditorium. The town trustees made a liberal appropriation last Monday night for the affair and extended formal invitations to Mayor Ralph of San Francisco, Mayor Davie of Oakland and the mayors and city officials of all the bay cities to attend. There will no doubt be a record crowd in attendance.

The city hall offer is still "on the table." It may have been a "joke."

With a few live ones like Druggist Pope in Albany, Rust and Richmond would be sure enough suburbs.

There is a new S. P. stop at Talbot avenue, which is greatly appreciated. The company has been asked to make another stop on the Gill nursery property.

Don't forget the concert to be given by Mrs. Jessie B. Nevins and Senor Poggi, Saturday evening, Nov. 20th, at the schoolhouse.

Additional Rust News.

Mrs. Laura J. Hines, Mrs. A. H. Byrd and Miss Clara Gustafson were the lady prize winners at the Forester whist party Tuesday evening, while Harry O'Brien, Joseph Swan, and Lester Schaeffer proved to be the better players as far as the men were concerned. Dancing followed the awarding of the prizes. The court is to be complimented on having a very good orchestra which consists of Miss Hines, Renfree, Schaeffer and Mrs. A. L. Bigley.

Fall Fashions.

Freddie Davis says coal will be worn large, but gasoline will be cut low in decollete Rust.

Charlie Trudo maintains that less hair will be worn this year by some.

A Beautiful Berkeley Girl Weds in Southern California

[By The Terminal's Special San Francisco Correspondent.]

When Benjamin Franklin Edwards Jr. left his home in Berkeley with his father and mother and Miss Dorothia Beatrice Burg, for a visit of Southern California, ten days ago, he apparently was little aware of the path over which destiny was about to lead him.

Today Miss Burg is Mrs. Benjamin Franklin Edwards Jr. and the entire party is speeding to New York where young Edwards has accepted a position with C. B. Zabriskie, an uncle who is president of the New York Trust Co. Upon acceptance of a position, the marriage ceremony was carried out and the party left for their eastern destination.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Burg of this city of the firm of Burg Bros. (Inc.), prominent Richmond real estate operators. The senior Edwards is ex-president of the Berkeley National Bank, and at the present time is president of the 23d Ave. Bank of Oakland. He is associated with F. M. Smith in a number of enterprises and is well known in Nevada and California where mining interests have commanded a great deal of his attention.

Young Edwards and his bride will reside at Brookfield, L. I., where he will occupy his father's New York home.

Bryan's "Peace Elixir" May Be Good, But Ahead of the Times

The Bryan Peace-at-Any-Price Philosophers seem to think they have made a new discovery in human nature—that those who imbibe the Bryan-peace-anti-fight-elixir won't fight, won't have to fight.

Four hundred years ago Ponce de Leon expected to find in Florida a similar elixir to perpetuate forever youth and beauty in man.

To fight and to decay are characteristics that the author of our being writ in man, and which moral, mental and physical characteristics the Bryan elixir will not neutralize nor eliminate.

John Marshall, the greatest jurist and one of the greatest statesmen this country has produced, in 1788 spoke sound philosophy and what would seem a warning applicable to the present: "Until mankind cease to have ambition and avarice, wars will arise. The nature of man forbids us to conclude that we are in no danger of war. The powers of Europe are jealous of us. It is to our interest to watch their conduct and guard against them."

Whether it was the roar of the high tides, the surging of the ocean, a roller skating rink, or the annoying hub-bub on the mezzanine floor, has not been ascertained.

The fans in the middle and rear who could interpret the "lip movements" of Duffy knew that he was talking about the big world's contests in Boston and Philadelphia baseball arenas, but had to guess what Duffy was saying.

An usher said "he thought the noise came from the engines of aeroplanes soaring over the building." However, only a few heard Duffy Lewis tell about those home runs that decided the Boston-Philadelphia dispute.

That Roaring Noise Spoiled Lewis' Speech

When Duffy Lewis "said his piece" on the Pantages Oakland stage Sunday night, just the front orchestra listeners could distinguish what Duffy was saying.

The fans in the middle and rear who could interpret the "lip movements" of Duffy knew that he was talking about the big world's contests in Boston and Philadelphia baseball arenas, but had to guess what Duffy was saying.

An usher said "he thought the noise came from the engines of aeroplanes soaring over the building." However, only a few heard Duffy Lewis tell about those home runs that decided the Boston-Philadelphia dispute.

An Attractive Modern Public School Building

Parents and Taxpayers Are Advised to Visit Richmond's Splendid Edifice, Complimentary of the Work of Architect Stone.

VERY few persons in Richmond have any conception of the interior conveniences of the modern school buildings that adorn the various parts of the city, and it was the good fortune of a Terminal newspaper representative to be shown through the new Grant school situated just north of the new city hall site in northeast Richmond Wednesday morning.

Through the efficiency of the board of education and the sound judgment of Supt. W. T. Helms, Richmond has acquired this model school building, fire and quake-proof, a beauty in style of architecture for $53,000, equal to many inferior school buildings in other cities of the state costing $10,000.

There are eight large class rooms and as many teachers, all recognized as especially fitted for the work assigned them in educating the children under their supervision.

Miss Mardele Robinson is principal of the school, one of the bay cities most popular teachers.

Miss Robinson is assisted by a corps of teachers as follows:

Misses Elliott, Hanlon, Monroe, Shaw, Frazer, Moore, Sheldon and Mrs. Frank Smith. Mrs. Smith is in charge of the baby school, and she is the tutor for the place.

Richmond leads in modern school buildings, and at the minimum cost to taxpayers.

Staleys Have Pretty Hayward Home

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Staley, former residents of Richmond, will be pleased to learn that the Staleys are happily and comfortably located on their beautiful Hayward ranch, amid flowers and sunshine and many other attractions to be found in conducting a small acreage farm.

Mrs. Staley still devotes her attention to music, and is a prominent figure in the many functions that call for talent in the musical world of the East Bay Cities.

The City Council received a communication from the railroad commission in regard to the reopening of 3rd, 5th and 8th streets, which was referred to the City Attorney and City Engineer.

TEUTONS CUT SERB ARMIES TO PIECES

PUSH ADVANTAGE AT FASTER PACE; SECRETARY LANSING TELLS ENGLAND MAKE JUNCTION TO CUT OFF HARASSED ENEMIES

London.—The Austro-Germans are pushing their advantage into Serbia at a faster pace and Berlin reports progress along the whole line with the capture of 2700 Serbians.

The circle of steel about the harassed Serbian armies is being drawn closer and a new move has been started to cut off their retreat through Montenegro if they should attempt to seek refuge there. And Austrians have begun an attack on the Montenegrins east of Trebinje, in Herzegovina, thus threatening them from the west, as well as from the north.

Serbian plans for a retreat in that direction are made still more difficult by the junction between the army of General von Koevess and the Austrians, who have penetrated Serbia north of Visegrad.

Knishevatz, Zaithar and Pirot have fallen. Nish is in consequence untenable.

News dispatches state that a violent bombardment of the advanced forts of Nish was begun on Wednesday, November 3, by the Bulgarians, who finally captured Nish-Kavala, a village a few miles to the northeast.

With Kragujevac the Serbians must now be concentrating on the Kragujevatz-Kraljevo-Uzice Railway, with the road behind them to Novi Bazar as a possible means of communication.

The fate of the Serbian contingent defending the northeast corner of the Danube is unknown. A junction at this place has been reported between the German and Bulgarian cavalry. Thus the position of the Serbians is desperate. They are, as their men believed in the heart of Serbia, surrounded by advancing hosts.

In Serbian Macedonia General Boytovich's command has had to abandon the Kachanit positions. This leaves the Plain of Kossovo open to Bulgarian invasion.

A severe defeat of the French forces northeast of Prilep by the Bulgarians is reported by Berlin, which states that part of the French army was routed and the rest made prisoners. The first of the French prisoners are reported at Kustendil in Bulgaria.

French reports claim victories at Babuna Pass and Prell.

The French front extends to Mount Babuna and eastward to Krivolak in order to help the Serbians who are defending Babuna pass.

There are 20,000 Serbian troops in Albanian territory ready to repel any hostile movement by the natives.

PUSH ADVANTAGE AT FASTER PACE; SECRETARY LANSING TELLS ENGLAND MAKE JUNCTION TO CUT OFF HARASSED ENEMIES

Washington.—The United States in its latest note to Great Britain, made public here last Sunday, covering exhaustively British interference with American trade since the beginning of the European war, declares that the so-called blockade instituted by the allies against enemy countries on March 11th, is "ineffective, illegal and indefensible." Notice is served that the American Government "cannot submit to the curtailment of its neutral rights," and it cannot "with complacence suffer further subordination of its rights and interests."

Declaring the United States "unhesitatingly assumes" the task of championing the integrity of neutral rights, the note proclaims that the American Government will devote its energies to the task, exercising always an impartial attitude.

The note, nearly 15,000 words in length, was made public by agreement between the State Department and the British Foreign Office. It carries with it a voluminous appendix, giving the text of American naval instructions, issued in 1862, and a summary and table showing hundreds of vessels detained by British authorities since the beginning of the present war.

FIREMAN LOSES HIS LIFE IN BIG S.F. FIRE

OLD AUDITORIUM AT PAGE AND FILMORE BURNED; OTHER BUILDINGS DAMAGED

San Francisco.—One fireman was burned to death and four others injured last Sunday afternoon in a fire which destroyed the old Auditorium, corner of Page and Filmore streets, and did $30,000 damage to adjoining buildings. The total damage is estimated at $60,000. The origin of the fire is in doubt.

Dennis Mulcahy, hoseman of Engine 21, lost his life in the performance of his duty. He was trapped by the flames while passing hose near the hottest part of the fire. The injured were Edward Martine, truckman of Truck 6, who was burned about the face and hands; John Gilbert, truckman, Truck 6, whose back was badly wrung in a fall; Eugene Reardon, hoseman of Chemical 9, who was burned on the hands, and John Luckie, truckman, Truck 6, who was badly bruised on his teats.

Fireman efforts by his companions failed to save the life of Mulcahy, who, with two others, was trapped by a backfire and overcome by smoke and flames.

KITES AID WIRELESS

Successful Experiments Made by Signal Corps.

Marked Increase in Efficiency Obtained by the Use of the Fliers—Further Tests to Be Made Along Same Line.

A series of remarkably successful and interesting experiments were conducted by the United States signal corps at the recent maneuvering in Massachusetts in maintaining a wireless aerial by means of box kites and thereby increasing the efficiency of an ordinary field wireless outfit from six to sixteen times. The tests were conducted by Samuel F. Perkins, a maker and flier of man-lifting kites.

Favorable strong and steady winds enabled Mr. Perkins to send up a string of kites to an altitude of 1,600 feet. Messages transmitted from the set of field wireless attached to this kite-supported aerial were received 150 miles away with distinctness, although the ordinary range of the set was only 25 miles. One thing that aided materially in obtaining this result was the fact that the kites flew so steadily that the aerial was always maintained at a constant altitude.

Quite as remarkable as the sending power of the wireless was its receiving quality. Messages were received with distinctness from the battleship Georgia while off Newport and from the government station at Arlington, Va., and Bermuda.

These experiments were but the first of a long series that will be conducted, and it is the belief of those who are interested in the matter that they will lead to a system by which the range of the ordinary field wireless will be materially increased. United States government and Marconi officials are following the experiments closely.—Scientific American.

Wanted—A Southerner.

He was a good-looking young negro whose clothes gave no indication that he was out of a job.

He entered the Enquirer office at the moment the staff was taking the relaxation which follows the consignment of the last edition to the press.

Said the young negro: "Kin yo' genmen tell me whether this a authen' gennman anywhar' round heah?"

"What's the matter with a northern gennman?" inquired the staff kiddie.

"Boss," answered the young negro.

"Ah jus' got in fun Georgy. Am hungry. 'F Ah kin fin' a gennman fun down South he'll help me out."

Maybe that's a new one. Possibly it's a late and neat way to make a raise. But if the young negro was on the level, and he looked it, the South received its handsomest compliment in these parts in many a day.—Buffalo Enquirer.

Another "Peach" of a Peach Story.

Brown, Bartholomew and Johnson counties all combined make this story. Mr. and Mrs. Elisha Davis live on a farm in the corner made by the three county lines. They have a peach tree on their place that has been acting in an unusual manner, and Mrs. Davis, who visited Columbus, Ind., recently brought along some proof. She had one twig from the tree on which there were 16 peaches, the combined weight of which was seven pounds. There was not another peach on the tree, but the one twig did nobly. Just a little distance from this tree there is another that is sending forth its second crop of peaches, and nearly all of the limbs now are full, the peaches being about the size of guinea eggs. On the Davis farm there also is a second crop of blackberries growing.—Indianapolis News.

Practicing Economy.

When the conversation turned to the subject of economy this little incident was related by Congressman Charles H. Burke of South Dakota:

Jenkins was sitting in front of the firehouse in a suburban town when a fellow-commuter came along and unrolled a dissertation on the high cost of living.

"Speaking of the high cost of living," responded Jenkins, "everything is economy down our way now. My wife is practicing it to beat the band."

"You don't mean it!" exclaimed the other. "In what way is she economizing?"

"She is economizing on my shirts," was the rejoinder of Jenkins. "She is buying me three for a dollar, so that she can get a $15 hat."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

WOMAN'S HIGH PLACE

IT IS HER BECAUSE SHE CAN KEEP A SECRET.

Miss Margaret M. Hanna is one of the most trusted employees in the Office of the Department of State.

There is only one woman in the United States who has knowledge of international events before their happen. Her name is Margaret M. Hanna.

She is the confidential secretary and assistant of the second assistant secretary of state, Alvy A. Adee, who is the only permanent official of high rank in the department.

No matter who may be the executive head of the department, and regardless of whether the administration is Democratic or Republican, the course of the foreign office is steered by Mr. Adee. All of the diplomatic affairs are managed by him. The complex unwritten code called International law is to him familiar in its every paragraph, and he has all precedents at his fingers' ends.

But it goes without saying that such business involves an immense amount of detail. Which is where the peculiar and exceptional talent of Miss Hanna comes into play. She takes all that part of the work off Mr. Adee's hands. To him she is like a card catalogue to a librarian—and quite a bit more, in addition.

Not until the present generation strange to say, was it discovered that women are the great systematizers of detail. Even the cleverest men are not in the same class with them at that sort of thing. Hence the fact that nowadays many captains of industry prefer to employ as their confidential secretaries women who, with special capability in this line, know how to relieve them of all bother about the petty machinery of their office business. Thus they are at liberty to devote their entire attention to affairs of major importance.

Such is the function that Miss Hanna performs for the second assistant secretary of state. Incidentally to her duties she helps to prepare many state papers that are in the last degree confidential in character. She is the custodian of many an important secret affecting the welfare of the country; but, from her point of view, this is merely a part of the day's work. She forgets the secret automatically when she leaves the office and goes home.

It has often been said that a woman cannot keep a secret. Perhaps most women cannot. Holding that belief, wrongly or rightly, the department of state prefers not to employ them in confidential capacities. Too much is often at stake to make the taking of any risks advisable. But the rule is broken in Miss Hanna's case. She is the custodian of many an important secret affecting the welfare of the country; she keeps it.

It is to be noted that she certainly does not do so.

She is the first female of the species.

"Well," rejoined lady No. 2, "I wouldn't say that; but you certainly are next door to one."

Judge—That will do. Case dismissed.

Retribution.

Judge—Are you personally acquainted with the plaintiff in this case?

Witness—I am, your honor.

Judge—What can you say as to his reputation for veracity?

Witness—Well, your honor, he was once a life insurance agent, and—

Judge—That will do. Case dismissed.

"I done kuched a culid man tudder night right smack in de act o' runnin' off wid my wif!" stated Brethren Tolly Tinkum.

"Well, ub-haw Lawd, sah! What did you do?"

"Aw, I plauded de scamp good and plenty!"

Old She Mean It?

They lived in adjoining houses, and one of those inevitable neighborly spats was on.

"You must think I am a fool," remarked the first female of the species.

"Well," rejoined lady No. 2, "I wouldn't say that; but you certainly are next door to one."

Economic considerations, all these engaged in making war munitions except food and clothing—though a great deal of war clothing is wasteful in that it is used up faster than if the wearers were in a civil occupation.

Economically considered, all these are idle, for they are producing no wealth. For Great Britain their number has been calculated at something like half the total working population.

The proportion is probably about the same for the other belligerents, except Russia, where it is something lower.

Suppose something like half the gainfully employed population of the United States struck work, sat down and twiddled their thumbs for two or three years, being supported in idleness by the government during that period. Suppose there was some destruction of real property by blowing up bridges, throwing explosives into factories, burning villages. Suppose there was a very high casualty and mortality rate among the idlers. Our economic position would then be about like Europe's. The government would be borrowing immense sums to support its millions of pensioners, and our problem would be to offset the drain as much as possible by levying on labor that is not normally employed productively—the surplus labor of women, children, the aged and the halt—and by economizing in all possible ways.—Saturday Evening Post.

CERTAIN REWARD OF VANITY

Sturdy Farmer of Jeffersonian Simplicity Had No Difficulty in Recognizing Son's Picture.

He was one of those stubborn young men who carry out their own ideas regardless of consequences, and when he left the farm to engage in the hairy business in a nearby town, contrary to the wishes of his father, the first thing he did was to have a many-colored sign painted, representing himself holding a mule by the bridle.

One day his father, a sturdy old man of the Jeffersonian simplicity type, came to town, and the son in Richmond should have a central boosting body. An expansion movement should be started at once; a series of luncheons planned, so that existing forces may co-operate and pull together side by side, and not in opposite directions. These get-together luncheons, conducted in the old-fashioned way, eliminating formality and dress suits, would incite the right spirit, and Richmond would soon be working for one purpose - to become the greatest industrial city on the Pacific slope.
